PROFILE

Murat is an engineer with 25 years of experience. Recently, his work includes technical co-founder and Chief Technical Officer for a cancer support startup in Silicon Valley. Besides being a self taught software engineer, he offers a wide-range of knowledge as a waiter, a US national Fencing champion, an archaeologist, a sports coach to an NCAA championship team, and a teacher.

Murat's career ranges from an individual contributor to a manager to a Senior Vice President to a Chief Technical Officer. His work includes large companies, like Wells Fargo, down to small two-person startups, and most everything in between and across a wide variety of industries like healthcare and logistics.

As a coach, Murat's goal is to provide his clients the tools, insights, and open communication that they need to grow to become their most extraordinary selves.
